Rodger Fauber promoted

Rodger W. Fauber has been named president and chief operating officer of Central Fidelity Bank. Announcement of the promotion was made by Lewis B. Goode, Jr., chairman, following a meeting of the board of directors in Lynchburg. Goode said the appointment will become effective as of January 1, 1982.

A native of Lynchburg, Fauber received a B.S. degree from Washington and Lee University, where he was a member of O.D.K. and was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and obtained a Master's degree from Columbia University. He also attended the Stonier Graduate School of Banking at Rutgers University and is active in the American Institute of Banking.

Fauber joined Central Fidelity in 1966 and held various management positions prior to being named executive vice president and chief administrative officer in 1975.

He serves on the Board of Overseers of Sweet Briar College and is a former member of the board and treasurer of Seven Hills School. He is a director of Lynchburg General-Marshall Lodge Hospitals, Inc. and is on the Board of Trustees and a member of the finance committee of the Academy of Music.

Additionally, he is on the Advisory Board of Mrs. Giles Country Kitchens.

Fauber received the Distinguished Service Award from the Lynchburg Jaycees in 1972, and in 1978 was selected "Boss of the Year" by the American Business Women's Association, Hill City Chapter.

Fauber and his family attend St. John's Episcopal Church, where he is a past member of the vestry and a past senior warden.

He is married to the former Ann Sims and they have four daughters.

Westvaco wins state award

Westvaco Corporation's Virginia Woodlands organization has been recognized as the Virginia State Conservationists of the Year by the Virginia Wildlife Federation.

Westvaco received the Federation's top award for its outstanding overall conservation effort and achievements in the areas of comprehensive multiple use forestry, environmental education and support of scientific studies.

The annual awards competition, now in its sixteenth year, is sponsored by the Virginia Wildlife Federation (VWF) with program assistance and fuding provided by Sears Roebuck and Company and the National Wildlife Federation.

As recipient of the top conservation award, Westvaco was presented a Bald Eagle statuette at the VWF Annual Conservation Awards Banquet in Richmond on October 17. The award was presented to Westvaco by C. Clifton Young, President of the National Wildlife Federation.

Responding to the award, D. J. Collins, Manager of Westvaco's Virginia Woodlands said that the entire woodlands organization shared in the recognition. Westvaco's corporate management has consistantly encouraged and supported both individual and organizational initiatives that fulfill the commitment to wise use of the renewable natural resources in their care.

Westvaco was also recently recognized by the Virginia Game Commission for their outstanding wildlife management practices in relation to forest management programs, and in 1979 received the Habitat Improvement Award from the Virginia Wild Turkey Federation.

SBA revises loan program

"Quality" will be the new watchword in directing Agency loans to small business, the U. S. Small Business Administration (SBA) announced this week.

"In the past," SBA Administrator Michael Cardenas explained from the Agency's headquarters in Washington, "SBA put far too much emphasis on "quantity" in its own loan programs. The philosphy was, "Get the money out," regardless of whether or not the client had a real chance of succeeding in his or her small business.

"That philosophy resulted in approval of far too many bad loans. We cannot permit such an approach to continue, SBA is a business organization, not a social organization."

M. Hawley Smith, Richmond District Director, SBA, said Cardenas already had relayed the new Agency philosophy to all field offices. "Our numberi cal goals have been abolished," Smith said. "Operating plans for our own SBA office will incorporate this new philosophy of quality over quantity."

At the same time, Cardenas said the Agency will eliminate a policy of quotas for loan making. "That is not to say we will abandon our help to women, minorities, the handicapped and veterans. We will make special efforts to help those entrepreneurs who face unusual difficulties in the private financial market.

"But I want to emphasize that SBA is for everyone, everyone who wants to start a small business or expand an existing one."

"At SBA," Cardenas also said, "we have changed the philosphy governing administration of all of our lending programs to emphasize the quality of loans versus the quantity of loans. I believe we can emphasize quality and still fulfill our role as a lender of the last resort.

"By statute, we must require 'reasonable assurance of repayment' on all loans. Unfortunately, this requirement had been subordinated to administrative considerations such as numerical goals and quotas. Reasonable assurance of repayment must be the overriding consideration.

"We often are providing a valuable service to a potential business person when we say 'no' to their loan request. We cannot continue in the business of aiding everyone the opportunity to fail at the taxpayers' expense."

Mrs. Fleming Pinnell Moore

Garrett weds Moore

Reedy Spring Baptist Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Martha Roberta Garrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Garrett, to Fleming Pinnell Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neville P. Moore.

The Rev. Edmond M. Terry, pastor of the Evergreen Baptist Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with candelabra, palms, and arrangements of silk flowers.

Miss Robin Tomlin, organist, presented a program of wedding music for the ceremony.

Mrs. Donna Paulette Terry, soloist, accompanied by Miss Robin Paulette on the guitar, sang "Love Me Tender", "We'll Live For Jesus", and "Endless Love."

The bride, escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents, wore an heirloom gown of ivory taffeta overlaid with ivory net and appliqued with antique lace. Her fingertip veil was attached to a picture hat trimmed with antique lace and roses. She carried a bride's Bible topped with silk roses and baby's breath.

Miss Debrah Cook of Evington was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Bernadine Garrett, sister of the bride, Miss Lisa Coleman, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Julie M. Stratton, cousin of the bridegroom, Mrs. Ann T. Moore, and Miss Michelle Tweedy.

Their floor length gowns of mauve polyester were fashioned with lace yoke, and long lace sleeves. They carried wicker fans decorated with pink and burgundy silk flowers.

Miss Christie Garrett, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress was of ivory satin and she carried a wicker basket with pink ribbon and silk rose petals.

Master Emmitt F. Rowland, IV, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer. He wore a burgundy suit and carried an ivory lace pillow.

Mr. Neville P. Moore was his son's best man. Groomsmen were Mr. William Kevin Moore, brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Robin Moore, cousin of the bridegroom, Mr. Timothy Moore, Mr. E. Tom Stratton and Mr. Ronald Harvey.

The bridegroom wore an ivory tuxedo. The best man, father of the bride and groomsmen all wore matching burgundy tuxedos. Their boutonnieres were of silk rose buds.

Mrs. Evelyn Green Garrett and Mrs. Johanna Coleman Smith were mistresses of ceremonies.

Mrs. Sherri Harris Godsey, Mrs. Melody Dalton Moore and Miss Traci Moore attended the register and programs.

The bride's mother wore a floor length gown of emerald green.

The mother of the groom wore a floor length gown of deep wine.

Both wore corsages of pink silk rose buds and baby's breath at the shoulder.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception in the social hall of the church.

Mrs. William T. Garrett, aunt of the bride, directed the reception; she was assisted by Mrs. Warren Coleman, Mrs. Walter Pillow, Mrs. Charlie Garrett, Mrs. Garland Garrett and Mrs. David Garrett, aunts of the bride. Also assisting were Mrs. James Baxter, Mrs. Timmy Moore, Mrs. Anderson Dalton, and Miss Elizabeth Thompson.

The bride is a graduate of Appomattox County High School and attended Central Virginia Community College.

The bridegroom is also a graduate of Appomattox County High School and is employed by W. W. Dickerson, Land Surveyor.

After a short wedding trip the couple will reside in Appomattox.

Miss Garrett is honored

Several showers and a breakfast were given in honor of Martha Roberta Garrett whose marriage to Fleming P. Moore took place Saturday, Nov. 7 in Reedy Spring Baptist Church.

Mrs. William T. Garrett of Pamplin and Mrs. Emmitt F. Rowland III of Virginia Beach were hostesses for a bridal shower at the Garrett home on October 11.

Mrs. Warren Coleman of Spout Spring, Mrs. Robert A. Smith of Appomattox and Miss Lisa Coleman gave a miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Miss Garrett on Sunday afternoon, October 25 in the Coleman home.

On Saturday, October 31 Miss Martha Garrett and her mother, Mrs. Herbert Garrett entertained with a breakfast at their home in honor of the bridal attendants.

Miss Lawson is honored

Mrs. John S. Grinels, Mrs. Forrest S. Wagoner, and Mrs. David M. Trent entertained Miss Beth Lawson on Saturday, November 7 with a luncheon at the Grinels home on South Church Street.

Guest included the mothers of the bride and groom, Mrs. Merle G. Lawson and Mrs. Ralph D. Reynolds and friends of the honored guest.

The marriage of Miss Lawson to Ralph Dillard Reynolds, Jr. will take place December 18 in Memorial United Methodist Church.
